HOW DID YOU SCORE?

Under 10 points—Ghastly! You wouldn't even recognize a ghost if you saw one!

11-18 points—A puny effort. You must try harder next time.

17-22 points—A brave attempt at a horrifying quiz.

Over 22 points—Frighteningly good! But perhaps too horrifying a knowledge for a mere mortal.

GHOSTLY
QUIZ

FIENDS and NEIGHBOURS

The Chamber of Horrors, at Madame Tussaud's waxworks in London, is one of Britain's great tourist attractions.

A lesson in history!

Travis stands over a skeleton, about 100 years old. "The Macabre" Museum shows the story of the death of the king - with the crown in the background.

When the king
 was the king.

Top right: A historical scene from the
 at the London Museum. Shows the king's death. The king's death - the king's death.

The Gibbet Irons - During the 16th and 17th centuries
there were over 200 offences punishable by death.
Rodies were often placed in these iron cages after execution.

HOW TO PLAY

BRASCEY'S HOUSE OF HORRORS is a board game for 2-4 players. The game is played on a board that represents a haunted house. The board is divided into several rooms: LIBRARY, BEDROOM, CREEP CLOVER, KITCHEN, and GARDEN. The game is played by moving a token from the START space to the FINISH space. The token is moved by rolling a die and moving the token the number of spaces shown on the die. The token is moved through the rooms of the house, and the player who reaches the FINISH space first wins the game.
